During frequent travels worldwide, the exhibition "Scuadri sul mondo" displays some images made by the photographer. The exhibition is a part of a national project to encourage the appreciation of art and photography. It is a way to show the beauty of different cultures and landscapes from around the world. The photos will be used and will replace traditional approaches to art, bringing a new dimension to the world of photography.